

Sarah Edsall

Sarah Edsall began her speaking and training career when she served the Oklahoma FFA Association as Southwest District Vice President in 2008-2009. She holds eleven state championship speaking titles from the FFA, American Farmers and Ranchers, Oklahoma Farm Bureau, Oklahoma Farm Credit, and Greater Oklahoma Farm Show State Speech Contests, as well as being recognized on the national level with a silver emblem. Sarah also participated in competitive cheerleading for several years in which she holds three national champion squad titles. She was recognized with the 2007 Top Captain's Leadership Award by the National Cheerleading Association and was the 2008 State Leadership Merit Award recipient for the Oklahoma Cheerleading Coaches Association.

Sarah inspires audiences across the country with her energetic spirit, genuine attitude and relatable stories of her daily leadership walk. Since she began speaking professionally in 2009, Sarah has shared her message with thousands of people, focusing primarily on student leadership. She is passionate about equipping young leaders with the necessary tools to conquer obstacles and grow into successful students, friends, and family members. Sarah sincerely believes in serving as a positive role model and her lifelong goal is to add value to the lives of others.

Sarah is a graduate of Oklahoma State University with a degree in agricultural communications. Sarah is currently the Public Relations Media Specialist for the Oklahoma Baptist Homes for Children at the corporate headquarters in Oklahoma City. Join me for a great big
